CATALYZING COLLABORATION

Why collaborate?

Stakeholders jointly achieve a level/form of collaboration almost none of them thought possible, and which is essential for meeting the group's objectives.

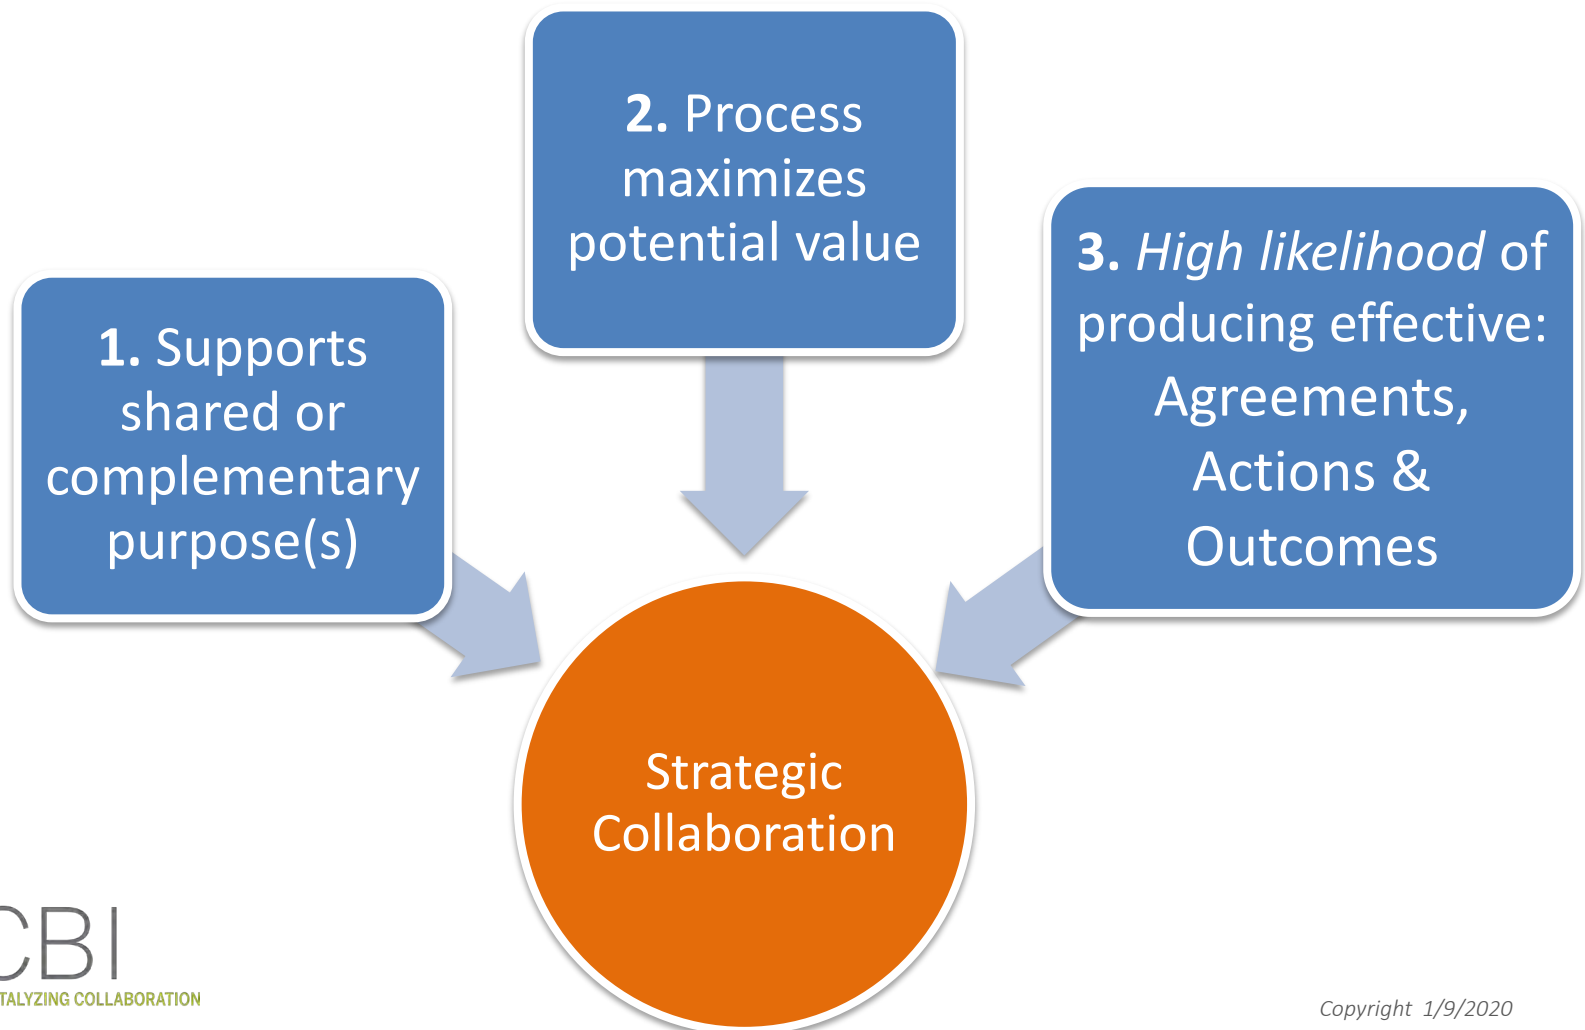

Why collaborate?

Collaboration is rooted in a very practical motivation: to increase a group's capacity to meet its objectives and individual parties to advance their own objectives in the process.

When is collaboration strategic?

1. Strategic Collaboration supports shared or complementary purpose(s)

- Coordinate between and among land managers, stewardship groups, private industry and other stakeholders
- Identify management actions & projects with multiple benefits (i.e., triple bottom line)
- Maximize scale of impact (across ownership/management boundaries/jurisdictions)
- Attract funding opportunities
- Measure & manage forest health together

2. Strategic Collaboration maximizes potential value

- Advances individual interests
- Advances shared and/or complementary goals
- Creates efficiency for stakeholders
- Achieves collective impact
- Leverages existing resources and attracts new resources

3. Strategic Collaboration supports high likelihood of producing effective agreements, actions & outcomes

Goal: widespread understanding and support

Key factors:

- a) Participation
- b) Structure
- c) Process
- d) Transparency
- e) Trust building

A) Participation tied to outcomes

- Participation balanced to achieve broader thinking & greater buy-in
- Roles, responsibilities & decision-making well defined

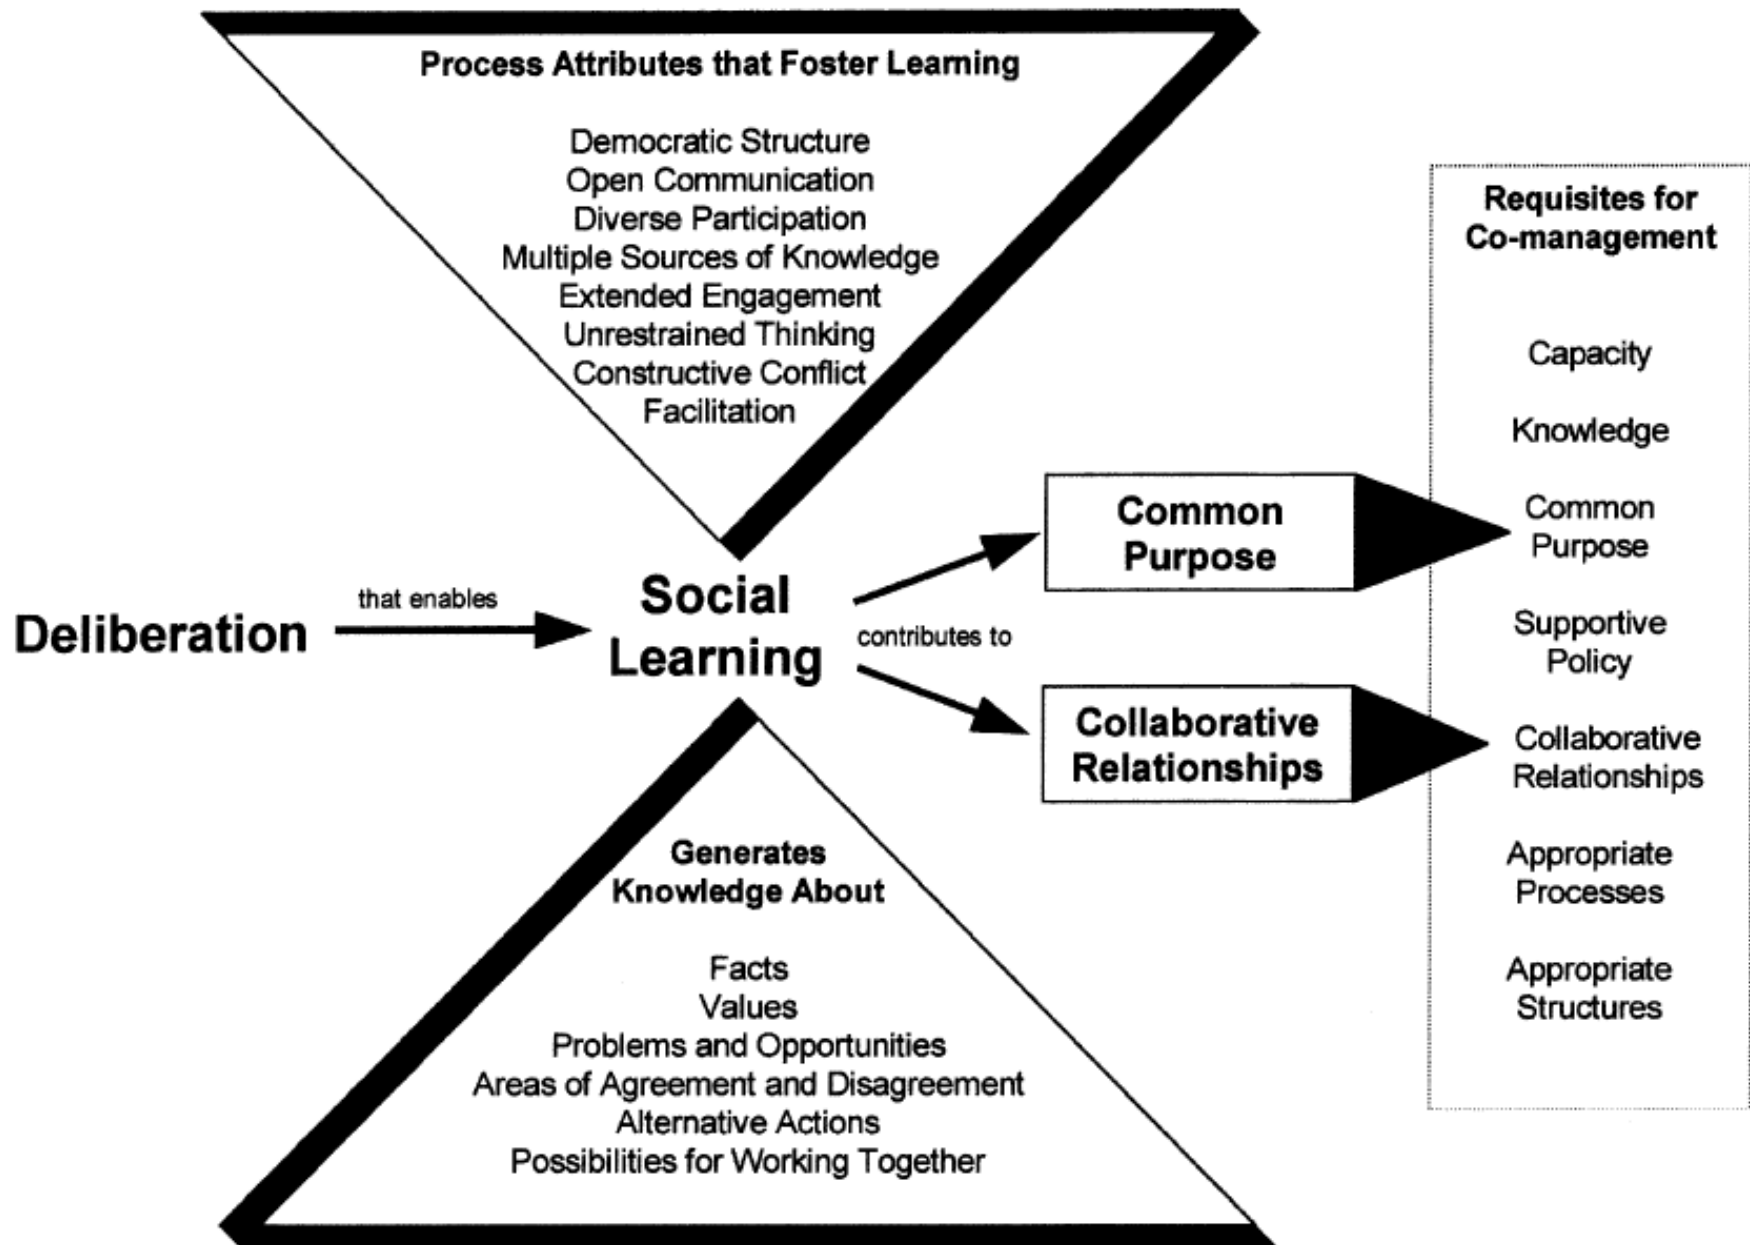

B) Structure Supports Efficiency

- Different levels of involvement
- Stakeholders know where they can “plug in”

C) Process for Collaborative Natural Resources Management

D) Transparency

People can figure out what's going on and where they fit in

Discussion

1. How does the ACCG demonstrate the characteristics of strategic collaboration?
2. In what areas could ACCG's collaboration be strengthened (or made more strategic) in order to take its work to the next level?
3. What would breakthroughs in collaboration look like for the ACCG?
